

Is your organisation ready to take advantage of the benefits of Oracle e-business suite?

WHAT IS THE PRAKTIS MODEL?

The Praktis Model is based upon the combined experience of Praktis consultants who have completed over fifty implementations and upgrades in several market sectors.

The Praktis Model focuses upon people, processes and management decision making, and encourages your organisation to take advantage of the benefits of version R11i – Oracle E-business suite, which is rich in functionality, provides standard industry processes and fully integrated applications.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

At Praktis we have developed a rapid implementation approach to give the maximum benefit in the shortest time frame, whilst also ensuring that cost and risk are controlled. And we don't just talk about it, we've delivered it!

We advocate a policy of 'go slow to go faster' and encourage each organisation to take 'time out' to define their required business solution. A definition phase can take 2 weeks or 2 months depending upon whether your organisation has:

- A clearly documented set of current business processes.
- A clear business need to change business processes.
- A team of internal people who can define what you really want from the new IT solution.

If your business can produce a requirements list or a process specification, then implementation Oracle e-business suite can begin. We can help you examine your business requirements, identify your key processes and build you a business case which your Board of Directors will want to sign-off.

With Praktis on your team you will have all the insurance you need to ensure success. Project on time and within budget.

WHY SHOULD I USE

PRAKTIS?

The people at Praktis have a well-earned reputation for designing and building business solutions around Oracle e-business suite. Having created a number of Oracle reference sites – Akros Chemicals, ICL, FLAG Telecom – Praktis has created a model to help your organisation implement, upgrade and support Oracle e-business suite for genuine business benefits.

"The Praktis Model changed our project approach and allowed us to focus on what really makes ERP implementations a success – business users working with the business to build processes and ways of working that are ultimately owned by the business – and not a isolated team of project consultants"

Stefan Rubensson, IT Director at Telia.
(largest R11i project in Europe in 2002)

HOW MUCH WILL

IT COST?

You can have a world class Oracle E-business suite solution at a price to suit your organisation.

We can offer an entry-level solution including the hardware platform of your choice for £150k.

If you feel Oracle e-business suite is too big or expensive for your organisation then Praktis can change your perspective.

Praktis

IS IT RIGHT FOR MY

ORGANISATION?

A preliminary engagement at a fixed price will deliver a scope and objectives definition. This document will define your project in terms of goals, functional and organisational scope, resource plan, project execution plan and cost.

With our in-depth knowledge we will advise you on the suitability of Oracle e-business suite for your organisation.

Our process recommendations are built on years of Oracle e-business suite experience.

HOW CAN I PREPARE?

The Praktis Model is a generic solution which can be applied at any stages of your project or support. At Praktis we recommend that you plan early by:

- Identifying the key business roles within your project team – Key Users, Process Owners and Process Authorities
- Identifying the key IT roles within your project and support teams – Functional/Technical Consultants, Solution Owners, Solution Authority
- Defining the roles and responsibilities, which a strong emphasis on 'interactions' – how business and IT people make decisions.

- Defining the levels of decision making -prepare the organisation for process, application and IT decisions required within the project life-cycle

HOW CAN I FIND OUT MORE?

For further information, call Colin Grace on 01925 856161 or e-mail us at information@praktis.co.uk

ORACLE CERTIFIED PARTNER

MAKING PERFECT SENSE OF E-BUSINESS